MISSILE BASE TOUR

YOU ARE THE ONE WHO CAN BRING THIS WORLD TO AN END! PUSH THE LEGENDARY GREY BUTTON & SEE WHAT WILL HAPPEN.

Travel back in time, where world was divided into East and West, to the Cold War era, where pushing a simple button can destroy the world. It's year 1971, the Soviet Union is building strategic missile bases all over the territory of the republics of Russia, Belarus, Ukraine and Kazakhstan. All bases are equipped with dozens of nuclear warheads. Many of these missile troops are still in operation and you will visit the only one that is open to the public. The Museum of Strategic Missile Troops, founded in 2001 near the Ukrainian city of Pervomaysk (south of Kyiv) is a missile base completely equipped as though it is in use.

The 3-hour excursion around the missile base makes you think, how close the world was to destroying itself. The Soviet prime minister was able to launch four of the most powerful rockets from the Moscow area with a single push of one button. Automatically, missiles from all over the whole USSR could have been launched on the pre-set targets, mostly on the West. Truly shivery experience, we guarantee!

“BE ONE OF FEW ADVENTURERS WHO EXPERIENCED THE COLD WAR FIRSTHAND!”
